VISITORS AND CAPITAL.

Every new resident locating in Daytona or its environs means added prosperity for this section. Every new visitor means more cash turned loose in this territory to aid in its development.

The Special Illustrated Edition of the Gazette-News, work on which is now going forward, will be circulated throughout the northern, eastern and western states to advertise the advantages of this section and create interest in what we have to offer here.

We must meet the competition of other progressive communities that are striving for development, and it behooves us to support such projects as this Special Edition, which have for their object the upbuilding of this city and the surrounding territory.

ELEVENTH AND TWELFTH AL-LEGED VIOLATORS OF LIQUOR LAW ARRESTED HERE RE-CENTLY—SENT TO DELAND.

The eleventh "blind tiger" to meet his doom in the local jungle within the past few weeks was brought down, Sunday afternoon, when Officers Mitchell and Humphreys arrested Charlie Mitchell, colored, on a capias from the county solicitor's office. Mitchell, who has lately been employed by the McLane Lumber company, was carried to Deland by Sheriff E. L. Smith, later in the afternoon.

Close upon the heels of the arrest of Mitchell, another negro, a drayman named Avery Mims, was apprehended and made a prisoner, Monday morning. He is charged with the same offense, that of peddling whiskey illegally. Sheriff Smith arrived directly after Mims was taken in custody, and carried him, also, to the county jail at Volusia's capital.

Mrs. Lester C. Mitchell, mother of F. J. Niver and Mrs. Harry C. Thompson, arrived Sunday to spend the remainder of the season and at present is with Mr. and Mrs. Thompson at their apartments in the McCrory building on South Beach street. Dr. Mitchell will probably not come south this winter.

ENTERTAINED AT CARDS IN HONOR OF HOUSE GUEST

Miss Dora Williams entertained with bridge and 500, Saturday afternoon, in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Kramer, of Carrollton, Ga., who has been visiting her for some time. Four tables were engaged at the pretty William's apartment overlooking Orange avenue and Beach street, two tables of both bridge and 500 being enjoyed. The honor guest, Mrs. Kramer, won first honors at bridge, a handsome vase. At 500, Mrs. Murray Foltz was the successful contestant and received a handsome hand-painted picture. Mrs. Graves was awarded a handsome rose vase. Punch was served throughout the afternoon, and following the game delicious refreshments were served by the Misses Norma Williams, Arline Crenshaw and Emma Wallace.

"BETTER QUIT YOUR GRUMBLING"

Written Especially for the Daily News
By DR. CHARLES FREDERIC GOSS
Author "Redemption of David Corson"

A couple of gray-headed, and semi-invalid old fellows were walking along one of the beautiful avenues, here in Daytona, telling each other, in querulous tones, the nature of their physical ailments. One of them took the darkest possible view of life and the other had tried in vain to reconcile him with his call to suffer some minor form of human infirmity.

At the very moment in which he was admitting his failure to himself, they met a little girl who was leading a blind man down the street. In a timid manner, she inquired the way to a restaurant, and they paused to answer her question. One thing led to another, and in a moment or two, the sightless man had told his story. His eyes had been destroyed by an explosion, and afterwards he was compelled to go to a hospital for a critical operation for some form of kidney trouble. Poverty and worry had driven his wife insane and she was now in an asylum, permanently mad. Of two little girls, the husband and father had been compelled to consign the younger to the tender mercies of a neighbor, while the elder became his pilot around an invisible world, in which he had to earn his bread and butter, by playing upon a guitar and a mouth organ.

After giving him some assistance, the two old fellows resumed their morning walk and one of them said to the other, "better quit your grumbling!"

"I will," he said, shamefacedly enough, "until my natural meanness makes me go at it again."

To what depths of degradation might all of us not sink, if now and then we did not see some sight like this? It appears to require the actual vision of some terrible, human tragedy to make the most of us cease our grumbling. We know, beyond the peradventure of a doubt, that we are better off than the most of our fellows; or, at least, that there are millions who are worse off than ourselves; but, somehow or other, the fact does not impress and grip us until we see such suffering with our eyes.

Now and then, some smug, well-dressed and well-fed philosopher contends that this is a justification for poverty and sorrow! "If there were no poor and suffering people," he glibly affirms, "we should all become as hard-hearted as stones!"

A sort of "fun-for-the-boys, but death-to-the-frogs," philosophy, I should call it.

As an explanation and justification for the existence of evil, it won't hold water, of course; but, as a matter of fact, it is absolutely all that keeps the most of us from becoming inveterate complainers, and it would be a fortunate thing, indeed, if the conditions of life did not enable us to escape, so easily as we do, from the sight of the abounding miseries of our fellowmen.

They used to tie a dead body to certain kinds of criminals, for a punishment. If society would tie up one of these poor unfortunates as tightly to some of us grumblers, it would probably be for our edification.

CHICAGO MOTORIST GAVE UP IN DISGUST

The appended story from the St. Augustine Record is self-explanatory:
About ten days ago a gentleman drove up to the office of the Evening Record in a handsome Franklin roadster for the purpose of securing information as to the condition of the old King road between St. Augustine and Ormond. He was told that while automobile tourists and others who had just come over the route reported it to be in a bad condition, it was passable for any person using judgment and care in handling of his car. With this information, Thomas H. Hulbert of Chicago started out on the journey southward with the promise that he would telegraph the Evening Record the condition of the highway. But no telegram or other communication was received and then not from Daytona, but from Chicago. And this is what Mr. Hulbert has to say:
"Editor Evening Record:

In Florida in the winter. I therefore ran back to Jacksonville, shipped my car to Chicago and arrived here myself last Friday evening. I shall have to cut out Florida for winter trips and go where the roads are more negotiable.

"Thanking you for your courtesy to me I am,

"Yours very truly,

"T. H. HULBERT."

Acknowledgement of this letter was made promptly with the comment that if Mr. Hulbert had only pursued his travels as far as the Volusia county line he would have encountered surfaced roads practically all the way down the East Coast to Miami. It was also suggested that Mr. Hulbert had made his trip to Florida just a year too soon for the completion of the brick highway through St. Johns county, and that furthermore the bad condition of the highway to Ormond and Daytona is due largely to the recent heavy rains. However, this incident goes to show how important are good roads to Florida if the state is to be made attractive and inviting for a class of people who are eager to come south and willing to pay their

SANS SOCIETY CLUB MET

The regular meeting of the Sans Society was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Waterson, Halifax avenue, Seabreeze, Thursday afternoon. The subject taken up was "Woman's Rights as Factors in Civic Work." Mrs. Raynon had charge of the program and read an instructive paper on this subject. One especially interesting feature was the description of the Santa Barbara recreation home at Santa Barbara, California.

The hostess served dainty refreshments during the social hour.
Mrs. John B. Minnis entertained at a luncheon on Peninsula drive Friday afternoon and evening, in honor of her young school-girl niece, Miss Anna Taylor, who has been visiting in the past month. Miss Taylor is the daughter of Doctor Taylor, of Tennessee. She leaves Monday to return to school.

DAYTONA BEACH LADIES ENTERTAIN AT OYAMA TEA ROOM

Mrs. Elmer Oliver and Mrs. George Carew were hostesses at a delightful card and tea party given at the Oyama tea room, Daytona Beach, Saturday afternoon. The decorations of the Oyama tea room were entirely Japanese, oriental flowers, vases and pottery uniting in making a distinctive background for the affair.

Nine tables of bridge and one of 500 were engaged throughout the afternoon, and some 20 or 25 ladies, invited for tea, enjoyed the hospitality of the Mesdames Oliver and Carew later in the afternoon. At bridge, first prize, a handsome oriental vase, went to Mrs. Erregger; Mrs. Wigman won the second prize, a beautiful hand-painted plate; and Miss May Jolley took third prize, a Japanese linen luncheon set. Mrs. W. W. Foltz took first honors at 500.

The Japanese idea was carried out in the refreshments. Delicious chop suey, sandwiches and Japanese tea were served, and to these viands the guests of the afternoon did ample justice.

Mrs. L. M. Gowan and Mrs. A. C. Withington, of Baraboo, Wis., arrived Wednesday, and are located for the season in Mrs. H. F. Stewart's beach cottage, just north of the Seaside Inn.

Fewer Paupers and Workless.

The number of unemployed among the trades of Great Britain affected by the national insurance act is now considerably lower than last year. During August, the first month of the war, the percentage of those out of work was doubled. Similar statistics in regard to pauperism point to a return to normal conditions. In the first week of the war, applications for relief under the poor law increased to 17 per cent. The payment of separation allowance to soldiers' families and the boom in manufacturing war supplies have since co-operated to reduce distress until there are now fewer paupers shown in the statistical records than in any year, excepting 1913.

The Czar's Letter

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

In 1862 Napoleon III, who had a scheme in his head for his Mexican empire, was anxious to make a cut-paw of England by inducing her to join him in breaking up the American republic. The Emperor Alexander of Russia, jealous of England's growing commercial power, did not propose that she should profit by the troubles in the United States and, believing that she would not intervene without Napoleon's assistance, determined to prevent if possible the Anglo-French intervention.
"Tell your master," said Alexander to the French ambassador, "that if he interferes in America I will strike him."
Now, the emperor was not sure that Napoleon would inform the English government of this threat. He was committed in his Mexican scheme and would proceed despite the czar's protest. England once having entered the scheme could not well withdraw. Napoleon was at the time in conference with the British ambassador to France, and the alliance was about to be perfected.
One day the American minister at St. Petersburg was called to the imperial palace and when he returned to the embassy called the second secretary of legation into his private office and, handing him a paper, said to him:
"This document is a communication to me from the czar expressing his friendliness for the United States and declaring that if the Emperor Napoleon intervenes in the struggle going on there he will make war upon France. It is essential that this document be shown to the British premier with the least possible delay. St. Petersburg is full of the Emperor Napoleon's spies, and it is quite likely that these facts are known to them. There is little doubt that they will put every obstacle in your way to delay your arrival in England till after the Anglo-French alliance has been effected between the two countries. They may also try to obtain possession of the document you bear. Go to London as quickly as possible and do not sleep till you are on the channel." George Carey, armed with a 42 caliber revolver, made his preparations to leave by the next train at 6 p. m. Expecting that he might be watched and delayed on his way to the station, he called a cab an hour before train time. He knew the shortest route and soon saw that he was being driven in another direction.

Tapping on the glass window that separated him from the driver, he appeared to the latter pointing a cocked revolver at him.
"Drive straight to the station," he said.
This had the proper effect, and Carey reached the train half an hour before leaving time. This was unfortunate, for it gave those in the pay of the French emperor plenty of time to make their arrangements with regard to him.
The emissary was put by an official dressed into a compartment where there was no one but a girl. The train had no sooner started than she began to puff a cigarette. Carey knew by its odor that it was drugged and tried to open the window. It had been secured. He at once broke the glass with the butt of his revolver.
When Carey passed the border into Germany he was very sleepy and dropped into a slumber in spite of his efforts to keep awake. His suit case was in the rack, and when he awoke, after the train had stopped several times, he noticed that the case was not there. He was troubled only at the loss of toilet articles and a change of clothing, for the czar's letter was under a linen hand around his body.
Carey believed that the chain of spies watching him would expect him to pass through Belgium. He therefore concluded to go through France. His bold stroke was successful, and he was not disturbed, passing even through Paris and reaching Calais without adventure. His traveling by an unexpected route threw the cordon of persons watching him completely off the track, and he was not located by them again till he reached Calais.

He was leaving his train at Calais to go aboard the boat for Dover when a man stepped up to him and asked if he were George Carey. Carey, who knew very well that he was spotted, admitted that he was, but in a tone to indicate that he would brook no interference. The man displayed a shield and, producing a paper, began to read a warrant for his arrest on a charge of sedition against the government.
Meanwhile the passengers were passing from the train to the boat. Carey stood listening to the warrant, one eye on the travelers and the boat, the other on the person whom he knew to be personating an officer of the law.
When the last passenger had passed over the gangway the American knocked the Frenchman down and ran for the boat. It had left the dock, but Carey cleared the gap of ten feet without difficulty.
A couple of hours on the channel and a few more in a train and Carey reached London. He had no baggage to bother him and took a cab at once for Downing street. There he got into communication with the British premier and was rejoiced to hear that the Anglo-French alliance had not yet been perfected. Producing the czar's letter, Carey went to a hotel and slept for forty-eight hours without waking.

Fire Extinguisher.
It was quite by accident that the discovery was made that ammonia would extinguish burning oil. A bottle of ammonia saved a family great loss by fire. The gasoline stove sprung a leak and the fluid caught fire, spreading rapidly. One of the older children coming into the room could not reach the sink and get water to throw over the blaze as he thought ought to be done, but had enough presence of mind to pour over it the contents of an ammonia bottle that stood near. As it happened, it was the very best thing he could have done, as it quickly extinguished the fire which water could not do. Now the family keeps ammonia on hand in a two-quart sealed jar, anticipating the time when it may be needed again for the same purpose.

A Refugee

By EUNICE BLAKE

My sister Rose and I were both girls of a keen sensibility. We were inseparable, and often when together Rose would mention something that I was thinking about, or perhaps it was I who would mention something that Rose was thinking about. For a long while we considered this thinking about the same thing at the same time simply due to coincidence, but at last we came to wonder if it were not thought transference.

When this solution was first suggested we both laughed at the idea, but after a few more very pointed coincidences of the kind we believed it to be true.

Our first separation occurred in the spring of the breaking out of the war between the triple alliance and the triple entente. Rose found an opportunity to go abroad with a party of friends, who took her along as their guest. With much reluctance at leaving me she accepted the invitation and sailed when the annual summer regatta of Americans commenced. During the month of July I, who needed rest instead of the excitement of travel, went into the country as far as I could get from a railroad and where the only newspaper was a weekly journal with no news in it except what was of interest to the surrounding farmers.

One night I dreamed that I was in a foreign city. I say I dreamed it, for my consciousness was more like a dream than any other sensation. I was in a hotel situated on a square. I looked out through a window on the square below, thronged with people all in a state of intense excitement. Some of them were throwing up their caps and shouting, others were hurrying in and out of the houses, while cab drivers were guiding their horses or auto cars were endeavoring to get through the crowds without running persons down.

Then without being conscious of any transition I was on a railway train. Every town it passed through was filled with soldiers, and everybody seemed to be bent on doing something in the least possible time. In the fields women were gathering in the harvest, not a man being there to help. Mules were dragging great cannon along roads, and locomotives were drawing other munitions of war on platform cars. Everybody and everything was moving in the direction our train was moving.

By and by we passed into another country. There were long drawn breaths of relief by my fellow passengers. We were in a valley on one side of which loomed fortifications into which soldiers were hurrying. There were two lines of these works, and they extended about a city, almost encircling it. These two lines were so filled with men that in the distance they looked like myriads of insects.

Our train entered the city, and I, with others, was hurried to another train. Soon I was again flying across the country. Now the people instead of hurrying in the direction I was going hurried in the other direction. Soldiers were marching in great multitudes on the road, and presently I saw some bearing the English flag. There seemed to be less worry on the part of all of us, our only course of anxiety being to catch a steamer, which was to sail from a coast we were approaching.

The next phase of this sensation was running through a fog on the ocean without lights and without a sound to indicate our presence. None of us slept, and most of us were in the cabin grouped in terror. Stewards were going from room to room stuffing pillows against the portholes or hanging curtains over them to conceal from without every ray of light.

My dream, my vision or whatever it may be called faded away. In the morning I awoke feeling as if I had been stayed. In dreams we never see anything we have not seen while awake. I had seen sights that were absolutely new to me. I could not understand it. Naturally I connected it with something that had happened to Rose abroad.

So impressed with this was I that I determined to go to the city. I was driven twenty miles to a station. Along the route the country people were pursuing their daily vocations, some of them getting in hay, others moving leisurely over the roads. When I arrived at the station I saw a man standing on the platform reading a newspaper. I saw in big black letters running across the page:

"The Belgians Still Hold the Forts at Liege."

I asked him what it meant, and he told me that all Europe had suddenly burst into a war flame. I bought a newspaper and read an announcement of the arrival of a ship at New York from Antwerp bringing American passengers from Europe, some of whom had left Germany on the last train that was allowed to come through. I wondered if Rose had not made her escape from Munich, where she was when I had last heard from her, and come out on that train.

I reached home in the evening. As I went up the steps the front door was opened, and out rushed Rose, and, throwing her arms about me, she exclaimed:

"I have escaped; but, oh, what a harrowing experience!"

When I told her of my dream, giving her such impressions of scenes that were vivid, she told me that I had gone through in my dream what she had gone through in reality.

SAYS HE IS HIS BROTHER

Also Tells Wife She Is His Sister-in-Law and Treats Her as If She Were.

Tacoma, Wash.—Discharged Monday from the Pierce County hospital, where for months he had been unable to remember his own name, Edward C. Cooper went to Seattle with his wife, who had just discovered his presence in Tacoma.

The next day he disappeared again. When he next came to official notice he was at the Tacoma city jail, representing himself as the Rev. Ernest A. Cooper, who had come from Africa to help find his missing brother, Edward.

Instead of the dingy brown suit he had worn as the "man of mystery," he had donned a long frock coat with silk lapels, black rimmed spectacles, fancy vest and broad clerical hat.

He had the police bring out the picture taken of the strange wanderer arrested on Tacoma avenue last March. He declared this unkempt, be-whiskered person was his brother Edward. He seemed much disappointed when informed the unknown had left the county hospital, but declared he would keep up the search.

The unknown was in a daze when found by the police last March wandering aimlessly on Tacoma streets. He was sent to the county hospital. It was Cooper's wife in Seattle who revealed his plural identity or insanity. She said he is now obsessed with the idea that he is his own brother, treats his wife as a sister-in-law and talks religion to her as if he were actually a preacher.

BERLIN HAS MANY MAIMED

Soldiers Swathed in Bandages Are Seen Everywhere in the German Capital.

Berlin.—No fair picture could be drawn of the Berlin of war time that did not include mention of the thousands of wounded in the streets. In motor cars, in wheel chairs and in the crowds on the streets, they are everywhere, limping, maimed and swathed in bandages. At one dinner table in the Hotel Adlon were four officers, every one of whom had his arm in a sling, and two of whom had their heads in bandages. One, a captain, had lost his right hand, but he had the iron cross of the first class and he seemed the happiest of the party. Indeed, the cheerfulness of the wounded contrasted strikingly with the sad eyes of the many women in mourning.

FRANCE HAS NEW AIR BOMB

Liquid Missile Can Be Used Three Hours After Filling—Guarded With Secrecy.

Paris.—A liquid air bomb has been perfected which can be used in three hours after it has been filled. Considerable secrecy has been observed in regard to the bomb, which M. Painley, the academicien, made practical from the inventor's design.

Shot Carried Gold Coins.

Paris.—Three gold pieces have been extracted from the skin of Private Boiessey in Paris. A piece of shrapnel pierced the pocket of another soldier, who had coins, and who was marching ahead of Boiessey. The shrapnel and the coins lodged in the leg of Boiessey, who didn't have a cent before he was wounded.

Thomson also urged the chamber to begin its work by looking at organizing its first big government initiative in "political and economic" or what he designated that he would attack the government's administration. MAGISTRATE BLAMES WIVESFOR MUCH MARITAL TROUBLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The husband is recorded as the prime offender in domestic troubles, practically every every marital dispute coming before the courts seemingly this idea is substantiated. The husband almost invariably is the defendant — more, he is guilty. He has broken some law, he is liable to punishment. And yet...

Despite the husband's legal responsibility, in almost every case the wife is the legally aggrieved party—is morally responsible for the trouble. In the domestic battles reaching the courts it is the man who did the wrong, who drank to excess, who raised the marital code in the way or that. And yet, tracing marital dissensions to its beginning, we find usually that it is the woman who sets the ball rolling.

Out of the fulness of his experience on the bench of the court of domestic relations in this city, Magistrate John J. Farrell thus sums up the present marital unrest in some interesting "Observations On Married Life" in the current issue of "Woman's World."

It is against the feminine partner in the matrimonial firm that Judge Farrell has drawn an indictment.

Without bitterness, but with candor and sincerity, he has shown how tragically often a wife makes a complete failure of her marriage by trying to rule her husband over, and he has suggested how victory may take the place of failure.

Do you remember the legend of the cruel tyrant who forced each of his guests to sleep on a certain bed, those who were too tall to fit it had their heads or feet chopped off; those who were too short were stretched with torturing weights and pulls. The intolerant wife acts on exactly the same principle when she tries to shape her husband to her own narrow ideal by ruthlessly cutting off his pleasures or pulling him up to some impossible standard.

EDGAR MURPHY GOESELECTRIC CHAIR THIS WEEK

MOHNT HOLLIV, Pa., Feb. 8.—Pale and haggard and with teeth chattering in abject terror, Edgar C. Murphy awaits death in the electric chair during this week for the murder of Herman Elster, at Taylor's station, on July 11th last.

If anything worth while happens in Daytona, look for a story about it in the Daily News.

BAPTIST PREACHER'S
SUNDAY NIGHT TALK
HEARD BY HUNDREDS

SERMON ON "KIND OF MAYOR DAYTONA NEEDS" DEVOID OF SENSATIONAL FEATURES OR ATTACKS.

The First Baptist church was filled, Sunday night, with people who went to hear the pastor, Rev. Holmes S.
Rightmire, preach on "The Kind of Mayor Daytona Needs," a topic that had previously been rather well advertised through the local press.

Persons who went to the church hoping or expecting to hear the preacher indulge in "political mud-slinging," or who anticipated that he would attack the present city administration must have been disappointed.
There was no mud-slinging and there was no attack made upon any administration, past or present.

However, many of the several hundred men and women in the congregation were visibly impressed with

Mr. Rightmire's clear delineation of his conception of the kind of mayor an ideal one would be. He prefaced his remarks with a brief statement disclaiming any intention to unwarrantly mix religion with politics, but at the same time intimating that politics might not be warred by a little more intimate association with religion.

The outstanding features of Mr.
Rightmire's picture of an "ideal" mayor were: One who conscientiously regarded the obligations imposed by the oath taken upon his induction into office; one who revered God; one who loved his city and worked faithfully for its civic, physical and moral welfare; and one who impartially enforced the municipal laws and diligently attended to all the duties appertaining to the high position of chief executive.

The congregation was forewarned that the discussion would be impar-sonal in its character when the preacher began his talk with the following story: A small boy sat on the ground and from a tin can was taking caterpillars and placing them at the foot of a telephone pole. A man came along and wanted to know the reason for such an unusual proceeding. The boy replied: "These here worms climb trees and eats up leaves. I'm goin' to make 'em climb this pole and get fooled."

When you get to wondering what, if anything, has occurred in this locality, get a copy of the Daily News and look it over.

CAUGHT FIFTY-THREE WHITINGIN ABOUT AN HOUR'S FISHING

L. D. Curran, of Elmira, N. Y., who recently was left stranded on the end of Keating's pier at Daytona Beach, when a section of it was washed away by the waves and was obliged to make his way ashore hand over hand on a rope, has not permitted that thrilling experience to dampen his ardor for fishing or keep him from visiting the pier as usual. Saturday Mr. Curran proved that the number 13, generally considered to carry bad luck with it, was the luckiest kind of a number when it came to fishing, for with but 13 shrimp he caught 53 fine, large whiting in one hour's time. Mr. Curran was the first one out on the pier and so had his choice of the fish. The repair work on the pier is progressing and it is expected to have it completed in about ten days' time.

OLDEST COLONEL IN

ARMY RETIRES TODAY

PORTLAND, Maine, Feb. 8.—Col. Daniel Cornman, Seventh Infantry, who stands number one on the list list of colonels, bade farewell to the army today, when he reached the age of retirement. He probably will make his home in Boston.

His health has been failing of late.

Colonel Cornman was appointed to the military academy from Pennsylvania in 1869 and graduated in 1873. He was commissioned in the Twenty-first infantry and remained in the organization until 1901, when he was made lieutenant-colonel of the Twenty-fourth infantry. He assumed command of the Seventh Infantry, Aug. 8, 1903.

"Israfil" Angel of Music.

Israfil or Israfil, in Mohammedan mythology, was the angel of music, who possesses the most melodious voice of all God's creatures. This is the angel who is to sound the resurrection trumpet and will ravish the ears of the saints in Paradise. Israfil, Gabriel and Michael, were the three angels that warned Abraham of Sodom's destruction. In the Koran we read: "and the angel Israfil, whose heart-strings are a lute, and who has the sweetest voice of all God's creatures."

NEWS OF THE HOTELS

C. C. Brown, passenger traffic manager of the Ocean Steamship company, New York, registered at the Ridgewood late last evening.

The first tourist party of the year is expected at the Ridgewood Thursday of this week, when Gillespie Kinports will arrive with a party of 25.

Winfield S. Smyth, of Boston, who is registered at the Morgan, is a member of the publishing firm of D. P. Heath & Company of that city. Mr. Smyth, who is now enjoying his vacation, is accompanied by his wife, and they plan to spend several weeks in Daytona.

The usual Saturday evening dance at the Ridgewood was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by guests of the hotel. A larger proportion of the guests of the Ridgewood this year, are young people than ever before in the history of the hotel, and this naturally makes for pleasure and enjoyment at the weekly hops.

At the weekly putting contest at the Despland, Saturday morning, Miss N. M. White again won first honors among the lady contestants. This makes the third time that Miss White has received the ladies' prize at the Despland tournaments. J. F. Allard of Buffalo, took first honors among the gentlemen of the hotel who had entered the contest.

The customary Saturday evening hop at the Despland being up to the high standard of entertainment usually furnished at that house, need more be said as to the enjoyment of the guests. The music, floor and company unite to make the Despland the ideal place to dance, and Saturday evening a large proportion of the guests of the hotel were to be found in the ballroom.

Ten or a dozen of the young lady guests of the Ridgewood gave Miss Elsa Woodbury, daughter of Col. and Mrs. E. P. Woodbury, a delightful surprise, Saturday evening. Unknown to Miss Elsa, a handsomely decorated table had been reserved in the main dining room, and this this, the guests of the evening repaired and enjoyed sumptuous repast. The occasion for this delightful surprise party was the celebration of the 15th birthday anniversary of Miss Woodbury.

Newspaper Novelty.
The Germans are a practical people. At the little town of Eberswalde, near Berlin, the local newspaper is printed twice a week on one side of the paper only, so that it can be used for wrapping up provisions without any touch of printer's ink. On these two days the paper is twice its ordinary size, so that the reader loses nothing in the way of reading matter.

WITNESS TO THE DEED

By M. QUAD

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Do you know that Iron Mountain, overlooking Mountain Lake, in Polk County, Florida, enjoys the distinction of being the highest point within sixty miles of the Atlantic coast between Key West and Northern New Jersey, a stretch of country more than one thousand miles long? It is nearly four hundred feet above sea level, with Mountain Lake a little less than two hundred feet below its crest. The lake has a shore line of over five miles, and all around the land slopes gradually and gracefully. The climate of this region is a perpetual delight.

The tract of land of which Mountain Lake is the center has been in the family of the president of the Mountain Lake Corporation for many years. It was withheld from sale with the view of ultimate development along unusual lines and as a solid body. This land is sixty miles from the Atlantic Ocean and about an equal distance from the Gulf of Mexico. Due east of Tampa, it is in the heart of the Lake Region, the ideal citrus section of the state. This part of Florida is remarkably comfortable in summer and notably free from cold in winter. It is served by the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line Railways.

M. E. Gillett & Son, of Tampa, have charge of the planting and care of the groves. In selecting for this work the best known citrus fruit growers and nurserymen in the state the Mountain Lake Corporation insures not only the proper planting of the best citrus stock available, but also the proper care of the trees up to the time they are turned over in bearing to the purchasers.

That the artistic side of the development at Mountain Lake will be of the highest character is guaranteed in the engagement of Frederick Law Olmsted, a landscape architect of international reputation. He is of a family of landscape workers, his father's best known achievements having been Central Park, in New York City, and Biltmore Estate, near Asheville. In the latter his son was associated with him, and the younger Olmsted has to his credit many other notable landscape developments, among them being Roland Park, Baltimore, and Forest Hills Gardens, Long Island.

The Mountain Lake Corporation commands respect because of the standing of the gentlemen who compose it. Among the leading stockholders are the following:

FRANK S. WASHBURN, president American Cyanamid Company, Niagara Falls, N. Y.; president Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, Ala.

HENRY F. GORMAN, vice-president and general manager Goodman Manufacturing Company, electrical mining machinery, Chicago, Ill.

JAMES MITCHELL, president Alabama Traction, Light & Power Company, Ltd., New York and London.

M. E. GILLETT and D. C. GILLETT, proprietors of Buckeye Nurseries and Gillett Lumber & Transportation Company, Tampa, Florida.

ELMER A. SPERRY, president Sperry Gyroscope Company, New York.

E. C. STUART, vice-president State Bank of Bartow, Bartow, Fla.; director Coronet Phosphate Company, Lakeland, Fla.

FREDERICK S. RUTH, president Mountain Lake Corporation, Lake Wales, Fla.

A preliminary booklet, now ready for distribution, gives the plans much more in detail. Copy will be mailed on application and further particulars supplied upon request.

CHANGES IN PUBLIC SCHOOL SCHEDULE

PRINCIPAL ADDRESSES COMMUNICATION TO PATRONS—DESIRES MUTUAL CONVENIENCE AND LESS TARDINESS.

There are two changes in the school schedule for the convenience of the pupils and patrons that the faculty have recently adopted with permission of the local trustees and the county superintendent. These changes refer to the remaining three months of the year.

First, because of the long distance that some of the second and third grade children have to walk, and because a change in schedule in the annex will not interfere with the regular work in the main building, we have decided to start school in those grades at 8:20 a. m. instead of 8:15 a. m. In order to get the necessary time, 15 minutes must be taken from the noon recess, which has always been unacceptably long. They will still have one and one-half hours for dinner, beginning again at one o'clock, the usual time. We hope that this may remedy some of the tardiness which has been so prevalent in these grades, and which is such an injurious habit to form while young. The arrangement to dismiss on rainy days at 12 for the day, will continue.

The second schedule change refers to the pupils of the fourth grade and above, and will be used only on very rainy days such as we had once a week for three consecutive weeks during January. Hereafter, when we have one of these days, when at 11 o'clock it shows no signs of clearing, we shall continue our work, with only a short season of relaxation until from 12:45 to 1:00 p. m., when we shall dismiss for the day. On previous occasions of this kind, we have had such a small number for afternoon session, and those who did return in damp clothing ran such a risk of catching cold, that we feel this change is a wise one. We hope that it may meet with your approval.

In connection with this subject, there is one request we should like to make. When sending for children by some person who does not know them, it will make matters easier if you will tell the driver the first names and the grades of the children. By that means we can locate them quickly at the office. When, however, some one calls for the Kenyon boys or the Smith children, without knowing the first names or grades, it is almost impossible to locate all in the last five minutes before dismissal, and the children walk home with some one "going their way."

A mutual understanding on these as well as other questions is all that is usually necessary.

Any other points of school work that you wish to understand better, we should be glad to have you put in the "Question Box," the questions in which will be the topics of discussion at the Parents and Teachers association next Wednesday, February 10th.

Yours, in behalf of the best interests of the school,

MABEL T. ROGERS.

ARRIVALS OF A DAY AT HOTEL CLARENDON

Saturday's list of Clarendon arrivals included Mrs. John Rigby, Madison, Wis.; Mrs. C. F. Ellrick, Oklahoma, City, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, Troy, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. G. Oppenheimer, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. R. M. Needham and Miss Marie Needham, Columbus, Ga. It is expected that a few of the above mentioned guests will remain here for quite a lengthy stay while others will go further south, returning to Seabreeze later on in the season.

Big Breakfast.

Even Peacock's generous ideas of suitable provisions for a breakfast were surpassed by a London host who entertained J. L. Motley. August 3, 1867, Motley writes to his daughter: "I went to the last breakfast of the season of the Philobiblon society, given by Mr. Turner, a collector of rare books. Beginning with coffee and tea, we ended with sherry, champagne and maraschino; fish, cutlets, rotti, salads, game, puddings and ice going on meanwhile in regular order. If you ask me what I did, I can only say I opened my ears to the animated and intellectual conversation, and my mouth, not to eat, but to gape and gasp and wonder at the prodigious consumption of victuals at that hour of the day. When I reflected that all those people would lunch at two and dine at eight, I bowed my head in humiliation, and the fork dropped from my nerveless grasp."

BOWKER MADE RECORD SCORE

DAYTONA WINTER RESIDENT

MADE NINE HOLES IN 34 CAUSING "REGULARS" TO SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE.

James H. Bowker, of Meriden, Conn., and a winter resident of Daytona, has been making some excellent scores on the Clarendon golf course, which have served to stimulate interest in the game and cause the "regulars" to sit up and take notice.

Mr. Bowker's best score for 9 holes was 34, a record that has not been equalled this season. Another good record made by the same player on Saturday of last week was a total score of 75 in two downs, he having made the first 9 holes in 38, and the second in 37. While this score is not altogether remarkable, it is nevertheless, far above the average score usually made on a short course.

A. J. Christie, golf instructor at the Clarendon club, said yesterday: "Mr. Bowker is an exceptionally good player and a gentleman with whom it is a great pleasure to play."

George S. Faatz, of Baltimore, a Clarendon guest for several weeks past, has some exceptionally good scores to his credit, as has also L. M. Ansley, of Columbia, South Carolina.

MANY ATTENDED SERVICES AT CLARENDON SUNDAY

The religious services held in the music room of Hotel Clarendon on Sunday were largely attended by guests of the hotel, and others, who took advantage of the opportunity offered to hear Canon McGrath.

GENERAL VON SCHJERNING

One of the hardest worked men in all Europe is Von Schjerning, general staff surgeon of the German army. He is held responsible for all that is done by the surgical division of the army along all the lines of action.

Long Record of Service.

Henry S. Adams, for 50 years cashier in the Boston post office, has been continuously employed in the postal service for 59 years, having, it is believed, established a record for service in that department of the federal government. He began as office boy at the age of thirteen years at Newburyport, and in 1853 went to Boston and obtained an appointment. He has served under 35 of the 45 postmasters general.

If you see it in the Daily News it is pretty apt to be just that way.

MT. DORA AUTO PARTY STOPPED AT CLARENDON

An automobile party from Mt. Dora, Florida, drove over to Seabreeze Sunday and were guests at the big hotel until today, when they left to continue their trip further south. The party consisted of George Amborn, J. A. Grunden, M. Doherty, R. Vollman and R. Barrett. They greatly admired the beautiful fire-proof building and were more than surprised to see such a large number of guests stopping at the hotel for so early in the season.

ENJOYED LUNCHEON AT CLARENDON SUNDAY

A party of tourists from Jackson, Michigan, enjoyed luncheon at Hotel Clarendon Sunday. They were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Teppy and Master William Teppy, and Mrs. W. H. Deacon.

AUTO PARTY SPENT SUNDAY AT CLARENDON

An automobile party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Burk, Miss Ethel Burk and Mrs. E. W. Rice, spent Sunday at the big hotel by the sea. The party is from Philadelphia, Pa., and is touring Florida and other southern states.

R. J. MORGAN IS

Sunday's arrivals at Hotel Clarendon included J. F. King and Miss Dorothy King, Kalamazoo, Mich.; A. L. Dunham, Vergil, Ill.; Chauncey J. Hastings, Buffalo, N. Y.; W. H. Dayton, New York; R. J. Morgan, Brooklyn, N. Y.

DAYTONA PUPIL WAS FIRST-PRIZE WINNER

HELD HERE SATURDAY AFTER-NOON DUNCAN MILLS ACHIEVED DISTINCTION AS BEST SPELLER IN COUNTY.

To Duncan Mills, a member of the tenth grade of the Daytona public schools, goes the distinction of winning the $5 gold piece, offered as a prize to the best speller in the public schools of Volusia county, the seventh to tenth grades inclusive. In a match lasting an hour and a half, in competition with thirty-six other pupils of county schools, young Mr. Mills was the only contestant who did not misspell one or more words.

The county spelling contest was held in the high school assembly room of the Daytona school, Saturday afternoon, and attracted quite a number of spectators, who greatly enjoyed the contest. In place of the old time way of each pupil taking his seat when he misspelled a word, each contestant was numbered and the words misspelled by him were written under his number, when the time was up the misspelled words were counted, the pupil keeping his place until that time.

A tie developed for second place, six students each missing one word.
Each of these pupils will receive railroad fare to Orlando, where as a prize they may enter the district spelling match Friday of this week. Second prize winners were Fischer Hall, Daytona; Alvera Green, Laura Wright, Harold Spaulding, Deland; Stanley Strother, Rosa King, Seabreeze.
Eighth prize, a trip to Orlando, went to Nelson Longee, of Seabreeze, who missed four words. Jeanette Hollis-well and Raymond Weeks won the places of alternates for this county.

Dr. Daniel J. Blocker, of Stetson university, pronounced the words for the contestants, and the principals of the various schools acted as scorers and judges. H. C. Marks represented Deland; Geo. Marks, Daytona; H. E.
Wakelield, Seabreeze; H. L. Johns, Ormond; A. D. Wentworth, Kingston, and Miss Etta King, Orange City.

The prize money was donated by the county school board, and the school boards of Daytona, Seabreeze, Deland and New Smyrna. While the judges were determining the prize-winners, County Superintendent C. R.
M. Sheppard addressed the meeting and urged the more hearty co-operation of the public, along school matters.

CHARLES B. CLARK DIES WHILE ON WAY TO DAYTONA

Mrs. E. L. Oakes, of Blairsville, Pa., who is spending the winter here as usual, received the distressing news Saturday of the death of her nephew, Charles B. Clark, an attorney of Altoona, Pa., who had a number of friends in Daytona, and was on his way to join Mrs. Oakes when he was taken ill with pneumonia in Pittsburg and died in that city Saturday morning. He was just recovering from an attack of la grippe. Funeral services will be held in Altoona tomorrow and the interment will be made at that place.
The deceased was about 54 years of age.

Mr. Clark had visited Daytona several times in past seasons and at one time owned residence property on West Orange avenue. He retained his liking for this city, and when he left Altoona on Wednesday, January 27th, to join Mrs. Oakes at this place it was with the intention of again securing a winter home here. Mrs. Oakes is deeply grieved over her nephew's death which will also be learned with regret by friends in this city.

Jamaica, and is comparatively a mod-of jam making was introduced into Scotland about 1760, when berry bushes were planted by "some of our young men that had been sailing in from Jamaica," and the condiment was valued in the first place chiefly as "an excellent medicine for a sore throat." A writer in Hens's "Every-that jam could not be "purchased at odd ideas of corrective punishment.

If a man was brought before him charged with shooting up a peaceful used to delight in telling off half a dozen good shots, whose business it was to fire all around the accused, who was made to stand up against a wall. The closer the shots and the more scared the accused the better the judge liked it. If the accused demurred against this little trifling punishment he was formally ordered to stand up and the maximum sen-to him. In the case of a prisoner who to an exclusive private musicale at the home of one of the socially elect.

It was her first appearance in the cov-for the beautiful singing of the bar-self as conspicuous as possible, she said: "Oh, Signor Deepnote, I am so interested in the English composers, won't you please sing something by Sir John L. Sullivan?"HOFFMAN'S
